

No need to introduce Daneboe's General Theory (reference: Annoying Orange). Its basic statements are:

1. All humans seem same, but they are of course, not.
2. How to measure differences? A clue is that behavioral differences had epigenetic effects on evolution of surrounding life animal and more importantly (for measurement purpose), plants
3. (Plant being a direct input in type of edible plant material), general theory or thumb rule of society is:

	Human type 1	Human type 2
Known in popular propaganda as	True human	"Evil elf" etc.
Real identity	Zombie (herdist), "NT" (or OK, OK, "Aspergian")	(Individualist), "Aspergian"
Body structure doctrine	Low quality	High quality; typically organs have golden ratio, logical beauty
Body structure doctrine effects	Pro-survival mutation/expansion of "banal" organs and group size	Typically no survival problems, but at times, we see pro-survival mutation/expansion of exotic organs (e.g. breasts), or very rarely (e.g.: in heaven, hell etc.) group size (but that is not a good and healthy trend at all)
Ideology	Reproduction before perfection	Perfection before reproduction
	Commonly available	Rare availability
Mental process	Linear thinking (verbal, social etc.)	More nonlinear thinking
Output	Classical zombie verbal terrorism: Repetition of herdist dogma	Creative
Associated edible plant material	"Vegetable" family	"Fruit" family

4. (Of course, the fact that people are mobile while plants are not, means that this theory has limitations and exceptions).
5. Also more importantly, the more objective definition (avg. of tastiness (e.g. sweetness) and nutrition value) is preferable to the "fruit"/"vegetable" labels which may cause mislabeling, e.g.:
 - Unripeness-prone "fruits" (e.g.: plum, green mango) are more like "vegetables"
 - Sourness in "fruits"; e.g. grandpa lemon might be more like a vegetable in a bleak sense
 - Controversial labels (confusion whether apple, tomato, mango etc. are fruits or vegetables)

Important note: Anti-fool culture, though not invalid, means that vegetables/fools are not entirely at fault (fate vs. destiny). Besides, labeling causes extremism i.e. "terrorist" (vegetable extremist) as well as "juggalo" ("fruit" style extremist).

Leaving behind both populist vegetable consensus and action-oriented realism e.g. grapefruitism (it has been criticized as "virus" and causes dangerous anti-hero politics e.g. Nazi regime).. more discussion and recognition must be given to:

1. Non-regionalist diplomats (sweet orange) linked people
2. reform executive (midget "apple" (sic) linked people
3. full spectrum diplomatic representatives i.e. white inside fruit (pear, litchi etc.) linked people.